YEMISI AINA

1-"Fleurs Jaunes", $80

The phrase fleurs jaunes is French for "yellow flowers." Quite simply, this is a field of yellow flowers, specifically of the heliopsis variety. The photo was taken on a farm in upstate New York. My hope is that the title exemplifies the simplicity and serene beauty of the landscape in which the photo was taken.

JOHN BACCILE

1-"Road to Atlantis", $250

2-"Jumping Rooftops", $250

A city is more than its buildings, roads, and infrastructures. It is a mechanical representation of us, our hopes, dreams, desires and fears. Those who take in its skyline only to see concrete, steel, glass and garbage probably need nagging excuse to look in the mirror.

ANGELO BENEDETTO

1 -"Heels", $300

2-"Street Scene", $300

Angelo comes to Fine Art Photography after 20 years of professional experience in fashion and commercial advertising. His trained eye finds cityscapes, doorways, historic alleys, flowers and various abstract subjects. Each photograph is meticulously printed on the finest paper using archival inks. The result is a long lasting photograph that is viscerally satisfying, bringing a feeling of balance and equilibrium. Angelo's work has appeared in juried competitions and group shows as well as many private collections.

GLENN BENGE

1-"Mummers Move a Flat"

2-"Mummer and Cop"

8 1/2 x 11 digital pigment-ink print, $100 framed 16 x 20. $75 unframed

The decisive moment, captured by luck and by art, is at the heart of my photo work. Debts to Cartier-Bresson, Robert Frank, W. Eugene Smith, Burk Uzzle, Helen Levitt and others are very clear. To see again such perfect instants as those masters had found, to celebrate those singular places in the stream of life, these are my constant challenges.

JOHN A. BENIGNO

1- "All American Cowboy", $275, ©12/2001, Frame Size: 20" x 16", Medium: Selenium Toned Silver Print.

2- "South Beach on Walnut Street", $275, ©8/2001, Frame Size: 20" x 16", Medium: Selenium Toned Silver Print.

Making a photograph is a struggle between my mind's eye and the subject. Eventually, they merge in a peaceful coexistence. The resulting photograph becomes more than the subject. The viewer can't possibly travel to this place with me – it is mine. Instead, hopefully, the image before them will ignite their own internal journey to a time and place or their own.

Address: 597 Hansell Road

Wynnewood, PA 19096-1001

VANESSA BOVEE

1-"The Stars Are Out Tonight", $175

2- "Moving the Squares Along", $175

My work is about beauty, fun, and playfulness. I'm not trying for anything intellectual or to make you think deeply about the content. I show what I find visually interesting, and hope others see it that way as well.

ART BRAITMAN

1-"At the Center", $195

2-"A Quite Walk in City Hall", $195

Photography has given me a great sense of joy, wonder and excitement for many years. It has taught me to be observant, for there truly is beauty all around, often and ultimately in plain sight. Through photography, I have come to appreciate beauty in its infinite variations and thereby have become more receptive to it over time. My work often brings me to Philadelphia's City hall, where I am ever mindful of its profound history.

A. CELESTE HARDESTER

1- "Bed of Roses", $225, 16 x 20 Giclee

2- "When Time Stands Still", $225, 16 x 20 Giclee

So often beauty seems to be secondary to a larger purpose: reproduction, survival, spiritual awareness. But roses. Roses seem to present themselves as existing for beauty's sake alone.

Briefly, amidst life's push and pull, comes a sudden awareness, and we know it is this very moment, this very joy, this very melting warmth in our chests we have been living life to feel, and time stands still.

VALERIE R. HUTTON

1- "Persian Buttercup - Ranunculus", $150

2- "Kimmel View", $150

As a long time photographer as well as an active member of a great garden club and participant in the Philadelphia Flower Show, I am always looking for another challenging way to capture and present the beauty of flowers. Often, an artistic approach is most pleasing. Some of my best days are spent wandering around our fascinating city, where I often shoot my most interesting images, both people and places. One afternoon, shortly after the Kimmel opened its doors, I followed a charming group of tourists to the roof garden and had a delightful time shooting pictures through the glass roof, capturing small images of the city below.

AMY E. MCCORMICK

1-“Avalon Pier”, $100

2-“Homeless Spirit”, $100

As an artist, I find it most fulfilling to try and create something beautiful from something (or someone) that may normally be overlooked. I treasure the chance to make an emotional connection with the viewer, to exchange a meaningful moment, whether it be in photography, sculpture, mixed media or filmmaking. Working with non-profits in Africa and Los Angeles, I learned what it means to be a "creative activist." I hope to find that kind of work here at home.

K. H. NORRIS

1-"Maui Mountains", $125

2-"Sailing in Maui", $125

These two photographs were taken while traveling with my "Cool Pic" camera last year to Maui, Hawaii, where I was able to captured a few fleeting moments of beauty. I suppose that my love of photography grew out of my art history classes where we looked at slides of master works of art. Since my eye had been trained and not my hand, the camera was a natural way for me to compose. Traveling around the world gives me a heightened sense of awareness to new surroundings. Textures, colors, and design constantly catch my eye forcing me stop to take that picture and hopefully capture its essence. I also enjoy making "Norris Notes" cards and books. My mini book series have been my latest creations.

IRVING ORENSTEIN

1- "Tree", $600

2- "Young Boxer", $600

The "Tree" photograph is part of an ongoing series that I have been working on for decades. This photograph fascinates me because of its passage from darkness to light.

The "Young Boxer" photograph is part of a series I did at Augie's Gym, now defunct.

Photographing boxers was for me a natural progression from photographing ballet dancers. Boxers in fact do not sneer at ballet dancers, but admire them; they use much of the same footwork.

ARMOND SCAVO

1-"Avenue Of The Arts #2", $195 Framed

2-"Lamp Light and Boat House", $195 Framed

I was born in Philadelphia and I have always enjoyed its vibrant social and cultural scenes: its movies, music, theater, and restaurants. But early on I never saw it as a subject of my photography. It wasn't until 1992, that I started to be fully aware of the depth and richness of Philadelphia's early history, its rich architectural traditions, parks, and its elegant charm and beauty. It is my favorite subject to photograph, and my favorite place to live.

2-"The Dandy", Digital Capture Archival Pigment Print, edition 2/10, $235

Photography is about telling a story with light, whether it be in black and white or in color. It is the artist's role to isolate that story by making the hundreds of decisions from capture to development to final print that best conveys it to a viewer. I am tied to the photo-realist tradition, using Adobe Photoshop as my digital darkroom. I do not work in a studio. Much of my inspiration comes from walking the streets and trails of foreign countries as well as from my beloved adopted city of Philadelphia and environs. Even though I am a street photographer, I am more than willing to crop, dodge, burn, sharpen, blur, filter, touch up, and do anything else to convey my vision with greater clarity. My papers and inks are all of the highest archival quality as determined by Wilhelm Imaging Research, an authority on preservation for the photographic, digital and printing industries.

DAVE SIEGELMAN

1- “Brigus Point Lighthouse”, Brigus, Newfoundland, $200.00

2- “Police Lineup”, Philadelphia PA, $200.00

I've been living in the Old City district of Philadelphia for about 10 years (13 years in Philly total). Lighthouses are my passion along with anything involving a coast or beach setting . I can often be seen taking candid street shots of people just roaming around Philadelphia.

On my spare time, besides photography, I enjoy backpacking, hiking, cycling, doing yoga, relaxing in a local coffee house either reading or writing in my journal, dining out, and visiting lighthouses and coastal areas. My dream is to one day become a photojournalist, move to a coastal village in the Outer Banks of North Carolina with a house right off the beach and a lighthouse nearby, retire and live the rest of my days looking out at the ocean and listening to the waves come in.

JILL C. SPRAGUE

1-"Wicked Catalina", $125

2-"Where I Find My Heaven", $125

I am greatly attracted to images that impart a sense of natural grandeur and aged grace; whether it be the solemn, understated beauty of a stone angel perched upon its tombstone pedestal, or the sleek, shiny chrome finish on the bumper of a '57 Chevy. My goal is to use my camera like Alice's rabbit hole, to open an unexplored world, a place of curious self-expression, but also a world of new relationships, new chances, new beginnings and most importantly, new stories. I want to give the viewer a sense of looking at a hidden world we don't normally "see".

JOHN WERNEGA

1-"Painting the Town". $100, 11 X 14

2- "Spectral View", $100, 11 X 14

John Wernega became "snap happy" when he was in seventh grade and received his first camera for Christmas. He focused mainly on nature photography at that time. It was on a trip to Poland in 2005 that John was captivated by nighttime photography of city scenes.

Since then, his major focus has been nighttime scenes. John is a member of the Philadelphia Photo Society, as well as the Salem County art League of New Jersey.

"Painting the Town" is a view of the Saint Peter and Paul Cathedral from Vine Street. The picture was taken before the construction of the Comcast Tower and has a view of Independence Place One and Two, which are no longer visible from that specific viewpoint.

"Spectral View" was also taken before the construction of the Comcast Tower late on an October Evening. There was a strong reflection of the city lights in the River.
